Responsibility and Party.

On Thursday morning we endeavour ed to show that 'party' was the effect not the cause of Responsible Government, that true party government pre-supposed the existence of two distinct sets of political principles, and that party formed on any lower basis than political principle was mere faction. It was also endeavoured to be shown that, as 'party' was only the ultimate result of the working of Responsible Government, so Responsible Government could exist where there was no party, circumstances alone deciding how long it could so exist. To that article our local contemporary replied yesterday morning in a column of personalities without a scintilla of argument to relieve the blatant monotony of the article. Now, surely this is not the way to treat important political subjects. It matters little to the people whether Mr DeCosmos can live without the Government 'loaves and fishes'; but it does concern every good citizen to know whether a scramble for these is to constitute the chief motive by which our public men are to be actuated—the highest aim and object of political party. Mr DeCosmos accuses us of having misrepresented him upon the subject of party aspirations after 'the spoils of office'; but surely he will not venture to deny his own war ery both in his personal organ and in the Legislative Halls—'To the victors belong the spoils.' And as for the rest, we refer him to the files of his own paper.

On the 6th of September he wrote as follows:—'The Ins will try to retain power—to hold the offices and dispense the patronage of the country. The Outs will make all constitutional efforts to turn the Ins out, and in turn become the Ins. Both parties will bid and outbid each other for popular favor. Office and patronage will be the chief elements keeping party together.' In this passage the working of party government is presented in its lowest and most repulsive aspect,—in precisely such guise as an enemy might be supposed to paint it. But, take away all political principle, all higher motive than power and poll, and who can say that we employed language unjustifiably harsh in describing it as 'an unseemly scramble for the loves and fiefs of office'? And this is just the vital point at issue. Our contemporary asks with an air of assumed triumph, 'When the Governor calls on a member to form a Ministry, would anyone suppose for an instant that he would select a man who had no party—no following—who could not command a majority in the Assembly?' Now, it occurs to us to ask our contemporary how it is proposed to form distinct political parties in time to meet the Governor or at the opening of the new House? Or all the great political principles the people are one. Even our contemporary has not been enabled to strike out a new course. True, every great measure has been opposed by him in turn. The Government scheme of Confederation was opposed because it did not emanate from Mr DeCosmos. The Canadian Pacific Railway was opposed and ridiculed because Mr DeCosmos had not been enabled to look higher than a wagon road. Even Responsible Government has been opposed, and for no other conceivable reason than that the self-styled 'Nation-maker' could not father it. But to all these and every other important public question the powerful current of public opinion has forced him into it—compelled him to follow in our wake. He has done so with no ill grace, it is true; but he has done so, nevertheless. There are no two sets of political principles in this colony at the present time to form the basis of party. This even our contemporary has been compelled to admit. In an article of 6th September last, we find the following:—'While a principle had been established by common consent, there was no party, and party lines disappeared.' * * * To day all parties—Auxiliaryists, Isolationists, Anti-Confederates, Confederates, and Now—You See—me, and—Now—You—Don't—See—Me—Confederates are fused into one common mass in favor of Confederation—Canada. * * * It is the want of office and patronage that has hitherto operated against party organizations heretofore; for no sooner was Union secured or Confederation insured than parties previously acting together, on one side or the other, virtually dissolved into a mass, with one common opinion. Now, if this was a true representation of the condition of affairs in September, 1870, where is the basis for the formation of two distinct political parties in 1871? As parties to be formed on mere personal grounds? Also, the member for Victoria District is not likely to become a very formidable leader. Look at him in the Session of 1870 with a following of ONE—and such a one! Behold him in the last Session with a following of two—himself and his following constituting the famous 'triplets' of the Session. Suppose that next session his following should be increased to three—the almost that such an impossible politico, such a political charmer can possibly hope to command in a House of twenty-four—what then? Why, it would constitute precisely such an opposition as People's Government would desire. A responsible Government would ever desire to see such material as constitutes the following of Mr DeCosmos occupying the 'opposition benches,' if there must be an opposition. Mr DeCosmos prates glibly enough about his own independence and non-office-seeking patriotism; but he must permit us to remind him of the scene which occurred not many weeks ago, when he prostrated himself before a member of what he deems to call the 'Stupids,' and in the most humiliating terms implored to be permitted to find rest and patronage under the egis of that party!

NEWS! NEWS!

The "British Colonist" is the only newspaper published at Victoria that receives the Latest Telegraphic Dispatches, as a comparison will prove. Late Telegrams appearing in any other paper are copied without credit 24 hours after they have appeared in the British Colonist. The circulation of the British Colonist being greater than that of any other Paper, it offers the best medium to Advertisers.

The Twentieth.

At the City Council room yesterday, a number of gentlemen met to devise ways and means to secure a proper celebration of the admission of British Columbia into the Canadian Confederation. Among those present were Ex-Mayor Franklin and Messrs Graham Ward, Nathan, Seelye, Roscoe, Powell, Wallace, Norris, Alltop, Turner, DeCosmos and Higgins. Mr Franklin was called to the chair and Mr Norris acted as Secretary. The following committee was appointed to make a requisition upon the Acting Mayor to call a meeting at an early date; Mr Ward, Mr Turner, Mr Seelye, Mr Nathan, Mr Drake, Mr DeCosmos and the Chairman and Secretary.

The Ogden Point Land Preemption.

(Supreme Court Chambers, before the Chief Justice) Attorney-General vs Trimble.—Mr McCreight instructed by Mr Johnson, renewed his application on the part of Dr Trimble for a discovery by the Crown of documents relating to the land in question. He read the correspondence between Mr Johnson and Messrs Drake & Co in reference to the matter, and complained that the documentary evidence was not forthcoming.

The Chief Justice ultimately made a formal declaration that Dr Trimble was entitled to a similar discovery from the Crown as from a private individual, and the Acting Attorney-General undertook to facilitate the search.

PUGET SOUND AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Territorial Dispatch of Seattle has the following:—It is related that a gentleman who recently made a tour round the world says that in examining a railway in India he asked where tea came from, and was answered "from Puget Sound." At Alexandria in Egypt, while admiring some singularly perfect spars among the shipping, he asked where they grew, and was told "Puget Sound." Afterward in a seaport of China he asked the source of certain timbers that a friend was using in the construction of wharves, and the same answer came. Over hundreds of thousands of square miles of area, does this unequalled timber exist, astonishing for its size, perfection, and durability. Mr Garfield, speaking of the lumber on the North Pacific coast, including British Columbia, says: "The size of the fir trees and the number growing upon given acres, in good timber districts, is almost incredible to residents upon the Atlantic slope of the continent. Trees often measure 320 feet in length, as he has often demonstrated, more than two thirds of which are free from limbs. Fifty, sixty, and sometimes as high as eighty, good timber trees grow on an acre of ground. Last year Puget Sound exported over one hundred and seventy millions of lath and lumber, twenty millions of lath and shingles, and an immense number of masts, spars and piles. These products of the forests were sold in California, South America, Australia, Japan, China, the East Indies and Europe."

COUNTRY LICENSES.—Yesterday Mr Bishop, on behalf of the Requimait publicans, applied to have his clients placed on the same footing as the holders of country licenses. The act provides that spirit licenses in any town possessing an adult population of less than 50 persons shall be issued at the same rate as country licenses—$60 per year. The Esquimauxers have always paid the city rate—$200 per annum, but the adult male population having fallen to less than the prescribed number, they claim to be allowed a license at the country rate. And it would really seem that the claim is just and equitable and that the allowance should be allowed. The persistence of the Government to impose the higher rate must result in the withdrawal from business of all or nearly all the present dealers, so that the revenue would lose heavily. It would be perfectly absurd to continue to impose a tax so ruinous and the Bench of Magistrates to whom have been referred the case, should experience no hesitation in granting the application.

MR J A Minco, who was noticed in a dispatch as coming to commence the exploration of railway route through British Columbia, is a native of New Brunswick. His first engineering work was on the European and North American Railway in his native province. In 1864 he was Chief Engineer of the harbour defences of San Francisco. In 1865 he was engaged by the Colling Telegraph Company to accompany Major Abbot to survey the line of the proposed telegraph to Beiring's Straits around Ochotek Sea to the mouth of the Amoor River. When the Company suspended operations they travelled overland to Russia, visiting all the large cities and personally inspecting the gigantic public works now in progress in that mighty empire. After traversing Russia and the greater part of Europe he returned to New Brunswick, where he practised his profession until selected, a few weeks ago, to accompany to this coast the Canadian Pacific Railway Surveyors as Engineer.

LICENSING COURT.—The following persons obtained licenses at the Licensing Court yesterday—Joseph H King, J B Sere, Fell & Finlayson, Ben Griffin, Joseph Lovett, N C Bailey, Sprott & Co, A Casamayou, Jas A Grahame (HBCo), Janion, Rhodes & Co, A Townsend, D Fasano, John McKinnon. And the following were postponed until the 12th—James Wilcox, John Dunstan, Charles Smallbones, Davis & McHugh, Wm Slock B S Parker, John T Howard. License was refused to Mathias Owen.

THE LATEST FROM SKEENA.—A trustworthy account from the new mines.

Mr Chad Blayney left Victoria on the 24th of March on the Otter and arrived at Arctic City, Germansen Creek, on the 16th of May following. His party was the first in from Victoria, and the first to arrive from any other place except those who went in from Cariboo to toboggans. Kelly's party, six miles above the Discovery Claim, were taking out.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS A DAY TO THE HAND.—They were working in the creek, about two feet beneath the gravel on a layer of sand on the top of which they got the pay. The gold was coarse, and nice and clean looking. A company of three men working near the mouth of the creek were taking out $100.

TEN OZS. A DAY TO THE HAND.—The last is the best claim on the creek. Germansen had not taken up any new ground. Elliott & Co. were working in the bank about half way between the two Discovery Claims, three hundred yards back from the creek and fifty feet above it. To fifty foursacks of dirt they took out three ounces. They WHEELED THE DIRT TO THE CREEK.—They were putting in a ditch to work the bank. The miners were all preparing to put in windings and were getting out lumber. The water was very high and still rising, consequently scarcely any work was being done. On the 6th of June, when Mr Blayney left the creek there were 800 men at the digging. He met others on the way and supposed there are 1200 men in there now.

PROVISIONS.—Were arriving by Lake Tatlah route. Quagmire's saw mill arrived on the 6th of June. A great many claims had been located both in the banks and creek and there was room for thousands more.

DURING THE WINTER.—There was little or no mining done. The winter was mild. On the 3rd of June there was a sharp frost which formed ice to the thickness of a quarter of an inch.

THE SPRING WEATHER.—Was clear, open and generally warm. Up to the 20th of June nothing had been done to the Skeena trail and all the provisions taken up by Moore for Smith & Sterling were lying at the Forks. Moore was under contract to deliver the goods at Tatlah Lake on the 15th of June. Sterling hired

ONE HUNDRED INDIANS.—To pack his goods to Babine at $10 a head and Fraser hired 50 Indians at the same figure to pack in his goods.

NO NEW CREEK.—Had been discovered. "U. S. creek" is a myth. The water was too high for prospecting. Mr Blayney took up a claim on Germansen creek from which he got a fair prospect but could not get down on account of the water.

PERSONAL.—The Hon Dr Carroll takes his departure for Cariboo this morning. There is probably no man in the Colony who has worked more consistently, persistently and effectively in bringing about Union with Canada upon the highly favorable terms which have been secured to us than Dr Carroll. One of the first advocates of the measure, it fell to his lot to act a prominent part in its consummation. Whether as one of the people, as a representative of the people, as a member of the Cabinet by whom the scheme was matured, or as a member of the delegation by whom the negotiations were so ably conducted, Dr Carroll has acted throughout with a singleness of purpose and an unselfishness of motive which entitle him to the gratitude of the country—a self-sacrificing zeal which merits a more substantial reward than mere thanks. We do not know what may be the Doctor's plans for the future; but we sincerely hope he may be induced to take a prominent part in carrying out that new system he has so largely instrumental in inaugurating.

THE FOURTH AT PORT TOWNSEND.—Tuesday was indeed a holiday at Port Townsend. The town was filled with pleasure seekers from all parts of the territory and British Columbia. A liberal supply of boating was displayed, national salutes were fired, and bands played. At 12 o'clock the Declaration of Independence was read, an address was delivered by Gov Salmon, and a poem recited by M Taylor. In the evening there was a brilliant display of fireworks and a ball at which a large number of both sexes attended. Among the visitors from Victoria was David Eckstein, Esq, U S Consul.

SKATING A SUCCESS.—The rink opened last evening and proved a complete success. A band, under the leadership of Mr Hayes, was in attendance and discoursed delightful music as the skaters glided over the smooth floor. The room was crowded and the utmost good humor prevailed. There were numerous slight falls by novices, which were productive of laughter from those who did not skate. Some of the young men became quite proficient before the evening class closed. The classes will be continued daily and nightly.

HAZELTON.—A new townsite has been laid off at the Forks of the Skeena, called Hazelton. All the lots have been taken up and buildings are going up rapidly. Five good houses were going up. Messrs Cunningham & Hankin have put up a large store and spacious warehouse. This town is at the head of navigation on the Skeena, and is at the terminus of the Skeena and Babine trail, and it is expected that it will be a place of considerable importance.

PIONEER PICNIC.—On Saturday the 12th of August, the Society of British Columbia Pioneers will hold a picnic, which all the old hands and their wives are expected to attend.

PRESENTATION.—We understand that the guests of Captain Starr on the late excursion to Puget Sound have prepared a solid silver fruit stand, gold ornamented, with a proper inscription, for presentation to that gentleman to-day.

THE WICKETS FOR THE CRICKET MATCH to-day will be pitched at 10 o'clock at Beacon Hill. The Victoria Eleven are: Cornwall, Curtis, Richardson, Hubbuck, Macartney, Matthews, Drake, Hemmingway, Begbie, Berkeley, Pagden.

PASSED UP.—It is estimated that about 800 miners had passed up the Skeena route before the Emily Harris' last passengers.

THE FUNERAL OF GEO RICHARDSON was quite numerously attended yesterday from Christ Church. Several officers of H M S Boxer joined in the service.
